Store Hours

Stores in Germany are not open as long as stores in the U.S. From Monday through Saturday, stores open between 9:00 and 10:00 a.m. in the morning and close at 8:00 p.m. at night. Smaller stores often close at 6:00 or 7:00 p.m. during the week and early afternoon on Saturdays. Stores are generally closed on Sundays.

Translation help in the Internet

Not all Internet sites about Regensburg offer information in English. Google's translation service site: <http://translate.google.com> can help you out in a pinch. The translations are not perfect but often good enough to help you understand the content of the German Internet site.

A Word of Welcome from the Mayor of Regensburg, Joachim Wolbergs

A leisurely shopping spree through the many small retail outlets in the old town – nowhere is that more fun than in Regensburg! In the Middle Ages, Regensburg grew large and important by trading with the world. The wealth of the merchants was expressed in an impressive architecture. Today Regensburg is a shopping town with an astounding diversity of outlets in a historic centre, which still has the aura of the merchant city of old. A plethora of shops, boutiques and galleries are housed in the heritage buildings of Regensburg's old town, a fact which is all too often forgotten, even by the locals.

Let Regensburg enchant you. Wander through the countless winding alleys and discover ornate old houses, stately patrician towers, and listed streetscapes – and between them so many small shops and boutiques, modern showrooms and traditional delis. The cafés, bistros and restaurants which line the many squares and promenades provide the perfect place to take a break from your shopping expedition. In the evenings, countless bars and pubs invite you for a night-cap, while our exciting cultural scene offers all kinds of entertainment. Anyone who goes exploring in Regensburg will be captivated by the exquisite charm of our city. Like a vast and varied open-air department store with an unparalleled ambience set in a world heritage centre, the old town never loses its fascination. Culture and shopping merge into a single, unique experience that you certainly do not want to miss.

I wish you much pleasure on your visit to our wonderful town. Enjoy all it has to offer, and have a good time.

Yours,

Joachim Wolbergs,
Senior Mayor

History Up Close

When you walk through Regensburg's Old Town, you are walking through the middle of history. Most of the buildings date back to the Middle Ages. Many of them are over 700 years old. There are even ruins from the Roman fortress built over 1,800 years ago.

A short walking tour of the three most important landmarks begins with St. Peter's Cathedral. Construction of the cathedral began in 1260 and took almost 600 years to complete. The two spires weren't added until the 19th century. Take the opportunity to go inside and enjoy a few moments of calm in the interior of this majestic building.

Walking north from the cathedral, you reach the banks of the Danube. Here is where the giant Stone Bridge, built between 1135 and 1146, arches across the river. For hundreds of years the bridge was the only bridge between Ulm and Vienna that offered a reliable means to cross the Danube. In the middle of the bridge you will find the "Bruckmandl" (the bridge man), a small statue that has been looking up at the cathedral since the 15th century. Legend has it that he represents the master bridge builder who made a bet with the cathedral's architect about who would finish their structure first. Right at the beginning of the bridge, you find the World Heritage Visitor Center with its interactive exhibition. Open 365 days a year from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. – No entrance-fee.

Discover two thousand years of history: You can learn a lot about everyday life in the city, about the people, their daily routine, their beliefs as well as the impressive buildings which have stood the test of time. With the bridge at your back, you continue up the narrow Brueckstraße directly up to the Goliathhaus. On the façade of the building you find a giant mural representing the story of David and Goliath. Turning right on the Goliathstraße, you cross a small open square, the Kohlenmarkt (Charcoal market) and reach the Old Town Hall. This building was, at one time, not only the residence of the city government but also housed the Perpetual Imperial Assembly from 1663 to 1806, where rulers and ambassadors from all over Europe met to discuss matters.

Today the Old Town Hall is home to a museum, the Reichstagsmuseum, including the eerie, yet fascinating, ancient torture chamber in the cellar of the town hall.

To see more of Regensburg's treasures we recommend a guided tour.

Shopping in Regensburg:

A shopping tour in Regensburg leaves no wish unfulfilled. The city offers large shopping malls and specialty retail stores just like those found at home.

The Old Town, however, offers a very special shopping experience. Here you will find many small, lovingly run shops. Each one set like a little jewel in the historical ambience of the Old Town. Most of the stores in Germany accept credit cards even if this is not announced with a sticker on the door, the exception often being very small shops. If you are unsure about this, don't hesitate to ask the shopkeeper!

Exceptional and Unique The Old Town

The Old Town of Regensburg combines, in a unique way, the ambience of historical architecture with the pleasure of modern shopping. A variety of unique Regensburg shops are located side by side next to stores of international chains and large department stores. The many restaurants, cafés and bars offer treats to satisfy every palate. In the Old Town, you can combine a day of sight-seeing with the fun of shopping. Strolling through the narrow streets and alleyways, the visitor will quickly understand why Regensburg is called "Italy's most northern city".

Malls like in the U.S.

The Donau Einkaufszentrum,

Save with the Regensburg CARD

The Regensburg CARD makes a visit to the World Heritage City even more attractive. The card offers guests discounts and rebates for many cultural facilities and leisure activities. In addition, the card holder can use RVV's public transportation for free.

Depending on the visitor's needs, there are cards for 24 or 48 hours, cards for individuals and families. A guest can quickly save a few euros even on just a short day visit. The 24-hour card helps you save money during a leisurely visit. In the morning you can park your car and take the bus to your sightseeing destinations as often as you want. A boat trip on the Danube, a guided city tour with "KultTouren", a visit to the "Kunstforum" art museum and then letting the day end with a JazzClub jazz concert will save you more than four euros – not including other discounts.

The card can be purchased at the Tourist Information Center in the Altes Rathaus in the city center. (For address and contact information see the card in the front cover.) An information pamphlet in English comes with every card.

Clinics with the Highest Level of Health Care

Regensburg medical clinics have an excellent reputation worldwide

Regensburg is an important medical treatment location for U.S. citizens in the Oberpfalz. The city ranks with the Regional Medical Center in Landstuhl near Kaiserslautern, the largest hospital outside of the U.S., according to Dr. Ludwig Hecht, a doctor with a certification from the Pentagon. For over 21 years, Dr. Hecht has been treating U.S. Army personnel in the Oberpfalz. U.S. Army personnel and their families receive top treatment throughout the world, however, "there is more distance in the relationship between doctor and patient in the USA".

Is personal attention a criterion for choosing medical treatment? "I think it does indeed play a role when everything else is functioning equally well", believes Dr. Hecht. That is certainly the case in Regensburg: The clinics are able to cover almost the entire spectrum of the medical care portfolio and their influence extends far beyond the region of Eastern Bavaria.

Regensburg's Beer tradition

Did the Ancient Romans Brew Beer?

Did the ancient Romans brew beer? Historians are divided on the question. What is beyond doubt is that good beer has a long tradition in Regensburg. And that in this city it is possible to drink for a good cause. Because the three breweries in operation today all belong to charitable organizations.

The year 179 AD is generally accepted as the date of the foundation of Regensburg, when the Emperor Marcus Aurelius erected the Roman fortress of Castra Regina. Around the legionnaires' encampment, farmsteads emerged to provide the soldiers and civilian population with provisions. Within the modern city limits, archaeologists have discovered the remains of a Roman agricultural building which at first some took to be a brewery. Among other things a well, a fire-stead, a kind of grinding basin and a roasting chamber were uncovered – and that meant the oldest brewery north of the Alps? Perhaps. Other historians see the buildings as evidence that the Romans brought viniculture and their methods of wine production to the Danube. But whether it began with the Romans, or with later inhabitants of the city, beer has been brewed in Regensburg for a very long time. As recently as 1900 there were still around 40 breweries within the city limits. Three are still operating today, charming the locals and visitors from near and far with their beer specialities.

Kneiting

Tradition dating back to 1530

At the Kneiting headquarters in Kreuzgasse in the old town of Regensburg, beer has been brewed since 1530. For 115 years the brewery was in the possession of the Kneiting family before it was placed in the hands of a charitable foundation. The brewery inns, steeped as they are in history, have left their mark on Regensburg's tradition of hostelry. Everyone from the mayor to the street-sweeper gathers in the Kneiting tavern on Arnulfplatz.

There are many Roman remains in Regensburg, like the gate of the fortress, the "Porta Praetoria". But did the Romans brew beer?

Bischofshof

a success story from the Oberpfalz

The Bischofshof brewery is inseparably linked to the complex of buildings that gave it its name. Immediately beside the cathedral lies the historical bishop's court with the Bischofshof restaurant, still today a jewel of Regensburg's gastronomy and hostelry. The first beginnings of the brewery are attested in the Middle Ages, when the dry throats of the artisans who built Regensburg cathedral required fresh beer. Today the brewery's profits go to the training of priests in the diocese of Regensburg.

Spital beer cellar and brewery

the oldest brewery in Regensburg

Regensburg's oldest brewery lies on the north bank of the Danube, in Stadthof. It is part of the complex attached to St. Catherine's Retirement Home, the "Katharinenspital". This care home for elderly citizens was founded in 1220 as a joint project of the bishop and the people of Regensburg. Still today, St Catherine's continues this tradition, building a trust fund for the care of senior citizens. Today the retirement home and the Spitalgarten, one of the most beautiful beer gardens in Germany, are part of a single group of buildings.

Dicker Mann Restaurant

This quaint restaurant-pub in the heart of the Old Town is known for its historical ambience. From the outside you are drawn in by its impressive architecture - the tower-like gabled roof resting on Tuscan half-pillars, and once inside, you are captivated by its unique atmosphere. In summer, the Mediterranean flair can be felt while sitting in the courtyard or the idyllic Krebsgasse.

Forever Young Festival 2016:

Classic Rock in the "engine shed"

After first opening to great acclaim in 2015, the Forever Young Festival is returning for a second round. From 11 to 13 March 2016, the old railway engine shed once again becomes a rock venue where die-hard musicians take to the stage of the Music Academy.

The concept is the same: original music of the 50s, 60s and 70s performed by musicians who themselves remember the early days of the good old rock 'n' roll. In 2016, nine bands are coming to Regensburg, who all have one thing in common: a passion for a music which, as the festival motto suggests, rejuvenates and re-sounds eternal.

On Friday 11 March, three bands will appear in a concert beginning at 7 pm, three more at the same time on Saturday, and on Sunday 13 March from 11 am there will be another rocking and rolling "white-sausage breakfast", again with three bands.

On each day, one of the bands will be from Regensburg. The other six have been invited from all around Germany. From Munich we have "RoxxDoxx", "Big Bad Wolf" and "Homeless Bernie's Boogie Nirvana," from Hamburg "Mickey's Monkees," and from Erfurt "Boogieman's Friend." The festival will be opened on Friday by the Regensburg group "Gray Earls Music Ltd.," and on Saturday and Sunday the Regensburg bands "35 Years Later" and "WOLF GANG" will take to the stage.

Day tickets can be purchased for €15 (reduced price €12), while the full festival ticket costs €40 (reduced €32). Tickets are available in advance from www.ok-ticket.de.
